Projects

WEB-DASHBOARD

This is a fully responsive Data Visualisation Dashboard using Chart.js that takes an idea from a social media dashboard displaying Traffic to your page on an hourly daily weekly and monthly basis.

It also allows you to view messages and send messages with custom input validation installed. The dashboard uses Local storage to save any changes to the settings section.

Used SVG for all the icons that I embedded into the Html and worked with the ViewBox to adjust their sizes and positions on the page.

The page layout is written in CSS using the Grid layout system. To make the page adjust to any screen size I used Media Queries to give it breakpoints from Mobile to Desktop

EMPLOYEE DIRECTORY

This project uses the Async and Await method together with Fetch to get Random User data from an API. The Api call returns images, emails, dates of birth, and locations of 96 users.

When a user card is clicked an Overlay is triggered by Javascript to display more information about the user

Professional Background

COUNTRY CO-ORDINATOR FASHION REVOLUTION UGANDA 2019 - 2021

My position involved organising educational events around fashion sustainability around Uganda, I was working and managing a group of six members. My work also involved speaking to industry stakeholders like companies and other fashion designers on best practices in the fashion industry.

I led a campaign called Kwetu Kwanza that brought together more than 200 individuals to discuss and learn about the impacts of second hand clothes on the social, economical and environment.

PAPER-FIG MENTOR 2018 - 2020

I was among a group of designers that were funded to go to Rural Western Uganda to teach and inspire up-coming design students of an NGO school called Paper Fig Saw school. This organisation is based in New-York and an arm of the LDJ productions company the company that produces New-work fashion week
